INDEPENDENT AUDITORS' REPORT

Marshall L. Schield, Member Schield Securities LLC Littleton, Colorado

We have audited the accompanying statements of financial condition of Schield Securities LLC as of December 31, 2002 and 2001, and the related statements of operations, changes in members' equity, and cash flows for the years then ended which you are filing pursuant to Rule 17a-5 of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934. These financial statements are the responsibility of the Company's management. Our responsibility is to express an opinion on these financial statements based on our audits.

We conducted our audits in accordance with generally accepted auditing standards. Those standards require that we plan and perform the audit to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the financial statements are free of material misstatement. An audit includes examining, on a test basis, evidence supporting the amounts and disclosures in the financial statements. An audit also includes assessing the accounting principles used and significant estimates made by management, as well as evaluating the overall financial statement presentation. We believe that our audits provide a reasonable basis for our opinion.

In our opinion, the financial statements referred to above present fairly, in all material respects, the financial position of Schield Securities LLC as of December 31, 2002 and 2001, and the results of their operations and their cash flows for the years then ended in conformity with generally accepted accounting principles.

Our audits were conducted for the purpose of forming an opinion on the basic financial statements taken as a whole. The information contained in Schedules I and II is presented for purposes of additional analysis and is not a required part of the basic financial statements, but is supplementary information required by Rule 17a-5 under the Securities Exchange Act of 1934. Such information has been subjected to the auditing procedures applied in the audits of the basic financial statements and, in our opinion, is fairly stated in all material respects in relation to the basic financial statements taken as a whole.

YEARS ENDED DECEMBER 31, 2002 AND 2001

A. Summary of Significant Accounting Policies

Organization

Schield Securities LLC (the Company) is a Colorado limited liability Company that works with a custodian who holds legal title to the client's investments. The client's investments are with various funds offered through Fidelity Investments and Rydex Series funds. The Company is not engaged in effecting purchases or sales of securities for the accounts of others.

Commissions are generated whenever new Fidelity or Rydex investments are made. Fidelity and Rydex pay a commission to the custodian, after retaining a portion for itself. The custodian, in turn, pays the Company, who pays various broker-dealers after retaining a small portion to cover its administrative effort.

Cash and cash equivalents

The Company considers cash on hand and investments with original maturities of three months or less to be cash equivalents.

Marketable Securities

Marketable securities consist of mutual funds and stock that is valued at market value. All marketable securities are defined as trading securities. The resulting difference between cost and market value is included in the income statement. The cost of the securities sold is determined using the specific identification method. Market values are determined based on quoted prices at the balance sheet date. Included in the income statements are unrealized losses of $8,853 for 2002 and unrealized gains of $235 for 2001.

Income Taxes

The Company is not a taxpaying entity for federal income tax purposes, and thus no income tax expense has been recorded in the statements. Income of the Company is taxed to the members in their individual returns.

A. Summary of Significant Accounting Policies (continued)

Reclassifications

Certain prior year amounts have been reclassified for comparative purposes with the 2002 presentation.

Use of Estimates

The preparation of financial statements in conformity with generally accepted accounting principles requires management to make estimates and assumptions that affect certain reported amounts and disclosures. Accordingly, actual results could differ from those estimates.

B. Transactions with Related Entities

The Company shares office space and certain employees with two related entities. The Company pays an administrative charge, on a basis determined by management, to cover costs related to office space, supplies and staffing. Certain members' of the Company are also officers or partners of the related entities.

For the year ended December 31, 2002, the Company also shared a discretionary percentage of its revenue to reimburse a related entity for certain overhead costs. The amount of $257,501 has been recorded in the income statement.

C. Statutory Requirements

Pursuant to Rule 15c3-1 of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934, the Company is required to maintain minimum net capital as defined under such rule. At December 31, 2002, the Company's net capital was $19,210 and the required net capital was $5,000.

The Company is exempt from certain provisions of Rule 15c3-3 of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 and, accordingly, is not required to maintain a "Special Account for Exclusive Benefit of Customers".

To The Members Schield Securities LLC Littleton, Colorado

In planning and performing our audit of the financial statements of Schield Securities LLC for the year ended December 31, 2002, we considered its internal control structure, including control activities for safeguarding securities, in order to determine our auditing procedures for the purpose of expressing our opinion on the financial statements and not to provide assurance on the internal control structure.

Also, as required by Rule 17a-5(g)(1) of the Securities and Exchange Commission, we have made a study of the practices and procedures followed by Schield Securities LLC, including tests of compliance with such practices and procedures that we considered relevant to the objectives stated in Rule 17a-5(g), in making the periodic computations of aggregate indebtedness and net capital under Rule 17a-3(a)(11). We did not review the practices and procedures followed by Schield Securities LLC in making the quarterly securities examinations, counts, verifications and comparisons, and the recordation of differences required by Rule 17a-13 or in complying with the requirements for prompt payment for securities under Section 8 of Federal Reserve Regulation T of the Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve System, and in obtaining and maintaining physical possession or control of all fully paid and excess margin securities of customers as required by rule 15c3-3, because the Company does not carry security accounts for customers or perform custodial functions relating to customer securities.

The management of the Company is responsible for establishing and maintaining an internal control structure and the practices and procedures referred to in the preceding paragraph. In fulfilling this responsibility, estimates and judgments by management are required to assess the expected benefits and related costs of controls, and of the practices and procedures referred to in the preceding paragraph, and to assess whether those practices and procedures can be expected to achieve the SEC's above-mentioned objectives. Two of the objectives of internal control and the practices and procedures are to provide management with reasonable but not absolute assurance that assets for which the Company has responsibility are safeguarded against loss from unauthorized use or disposition, and that transactions are executed in accordance with management's authorization and recorded properly to permit preparation of financial statements in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles. Rule 17a-5(g) lists additional objectives of the practices and procedures listed in the preceding paragraph.

Because of inherent limitations in internal control or the practices and procedures referred to above, error or fraud may occur and not be detected. Also, projection of any evaluation of them to future periods is subject to the risk that they may become inadequate because of changes in conditions or that the effectiveness of their design and operation may deteriorate. Our consideration of internal control would not necessarily disclose all matters in the internal control structure that might be material weaknesses under standards established by the American Institute of Certified Public Accountants. A material weakness is a condition in which the design or operation of the specific internal control components does not reduce to a relatively low level the risk that error or fraud in amounts that would be material in relation to the financial statements being audited may occur and not be detected within a timely period by employees in the normal course of performing their assigned functions. However, we noted no matters involving internal control, including control activities for safeguarding securities that we consider to be material weaknesses as defined above.

We understand that practices and procedures that accomplish the objectives referred to in the second paragraph of this report are considered by the SEC to be adequate for its purposes in accordance with the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 and related regulations, and that practices and procedures that do not accomplish such objectives in all material respects indicate a material inadequacy for such purposes. Based on this understanding and on our study, we believe that the Company's practices and procedures were adequate at December 31, 2002 to meet the Commission's objectives.

This report is intended solely for the information and use of management, the Securities and Exchange Commission, the National Association of Securities Dealers and other regulatory agencies which rely on Rule 17a-5(g) under the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 and should not be used for any other purposes.
